

WANT THE D.U.R. TO MOVE TRACKS

YPSILANTI TOWNSHIP BOARD MEETS WITH COMPANY REPRESENTATIVE AT CITY HALL.

The township board of Ypsilanti met Wednesday evening at the city hall in executive session with Thomas Beath, representative of the Detroit, Jackson and Chicago railway company, for the purpose of going into the question of the company's franchise under which the company is operating. Members of the board have a copy of an old franchise, dated 1896. Mr. Beath appeared before the board and told them that the company had two franchises under which they were operating in Ypsilanti township. He stated that the franchises were dated 1898 and that under the first the railway to have been built within a certain limit and that the company failed to build within the time and was given further time to build, and then built within the required time.

Mr. Beath did not have the franchise with him, and explained that he had attended the funeral Wednesday of Mr. Ives and family and did not have time to get the franchise before boarding a car. He assured the members of the township board that he would bring out the franchise at any time they wished, and a meeting was called for next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time the matter will be further investigated.

The township board was of the opinion that the company had no franchise and were trespassers in the highway. They desire that the company move their tracks off the highway and lay the tracks on their own right of way which they have acquired by purchase through the township of Ypsilanti.

INTERESTING MEETINGS ARE HELD DURING PRESENT WEEK.

Several successful meetings have been held in various parts of the county during the present week. On Tuesday evening the Jersey cattle breeders of the county held their monthly meeting at the city Y. M. C. A. and the County Farm Bureau put on a five-reel moving picture, "Hearts and Jerseys." This same picture was presented at the Stony Creek hall the evening of the 22nd, at the Cavanaugh Lake Grange the 23rd and will be presented at the Fritz school on the Miller Avenue road Friday evening, the 24th.

SOME FISH STORY.

The St. Petersburg Times publishes a fish story in which our friend, Dr. Dr. Dr. Deake, figures as the champion fisherman, carrying off the honors of landing a 20-pound grouper. The party that Mr. Deake fished with landed 950 pounds of fish. As the story comes from Florida, where they say fishing is good, and George Renton says it is possible, we are of the opinion that it is a true fish story, but after fishing in the lakes of Washtenaw county we can't help but being skeptical.

MEETING TONIGHT.

There will be a meeting of the Sons of Veterans this coming Thursday evening. Fifteen members of the Detroit camp are expected here and will initiate three candidates. The Daughters of Veterans will give a supper at 6 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

COUNCIL RINGS IN ON "OLD PAT"

ONCE PRIDE OF FIRE DEPARTMENT—OTHER CITY ITEMS GIVEN ATTENTION

"Pat," the old retired fire horse, was the cause of a stormy scene in the council meeting Monday night.

"Pat," as most of Ypsilanti residents know, was discussed several years ago and was at that time slated for the electric chair or the high chief executioner's axe; but some kind-hearted persons came to his rescue and he has since been more than earning his board and keep by drawing dirt in a one-horse wagon from the city streets. Everything was going well for "Pat" until some ambitious agent, looking only to a nice big fat commission, tried to sell the city an attachment for sweeping gutters to be attached to the street sweeper. The price was around $750 and a committee was asked to investigate what it cost under the present arrangement with "Pat." The figures were secured and Alderman Smith reported the total cost of keeping "Pat" at only $278 from May, 1921, until March 15, 1922. Then it cost $1,186.54 to pay men to clean up and load the dirt in the wagon. Alderman Lathers moved that "Pat" be sold; Alderman Downing made a substitute motion that he be chloroformed by some person who had both nerve and kindness. When the question was voted on there were four ayes and four nays, so that once again "Pat" was vindicated. M. M. Read, fire commissioner, was present and stated after the meeting that before he would see old "Pat" killed or abused he would give him a home on his farm free for the rest of his days.

The wording of the curb and gutter amendment to the charter to be voted upon at the coming election was discussed and finally it was agreed that the matter should stand as approved by the governor.

H. Z. Wilber, member of the charter commission, appeared before the council and told the members that the governor had approved the proposed new charter and that as soon as possible copies would be distributed among the electors. It is now in the hands of the printer.

The following persons were named and approved by the council on the publicity committee for the new charter: John F. McCann, Atwood McCandrew, E. A. Mellenkamp, J. H. Hopkins, D. L. Davis, O. C. Eckley, Mrs. Clifford Goldsmith, Henry Schneider, Mrs. Jack Shepherd, Fred Beck, Mrs. Maud MacAllister, Mrs. H. M. Frain, Dr. E. S. George, Miss Zella Beardsley, Will Sherman, Miss Mary Goodard, Mrs. W. H. Varney, Mrs. Lillian Root and Mrs. A. A. Boutell.

Residents of South street petitioned the council for a sidewalk and it was voted that the board of public works prepare plans and specifications. Residents of First avenue also petitioned for a sidewalk on First avenue and part of Michigan avenue, which was granted. The cost of putting in gutters, gas and water for residents of Washtenaw avenue was estimated to be $3,815.25. The matter was referred to the board of public works. The estimated cost of sidewalks, water mains and gas mains in front of two lots of Frank Sima was estimated at $892.

The matter of getting a police booth was put over two weeks until the committee can hear from the D. U. R.

MISSING GIRL LOCATED AT FLINT BROUGHT BACK

Deputy Sheriff Elliott on Monday went to Flint and brought back Miss Thelma Hancock, 15-year-old girl missing from her home here the past two weeks, and took her to the community house in Ann Arbor. He also brought back Robert Gardner, aged 23 years, who was lodged in the county jail, and police say a complaint accusing him of contributing to the delinquency of a minor child will be made against him.

NORMAL IN TRACK MEET.

Lloyd Olds, with 29 men from the Normal, went to Highland Park Tuesday afternoon for a track meet.

PLEASANT LAKE GRANGE.

Pleasant Lake Grange will hold its next regular meeting at Freedom town hall next Monday evening, March 27, at 8 o'clock. A fine program has been prepared.

SUES TENANT FOR $627.45.

Suit has been started in circuit court by Austin Robinson, a Saline township farmer, claiming damages of $627.45 on a land contract against Walter Koebe, who occupied the Robinson farm as tenant. Mr. Koebe claims that he owes Mr. Robinson between $300 and $400. Walter Koebe was given a verdict of $226.75 Tuesday. Robinson was assessed the cost of the suit.

NEW FACTORY FOR YPSILANTI

SAXON MOTOR COMPANY OF DETROIT MAY LOCATE IN YPSILANTI.

Secretary O. C. Eckley of the Board of Commerce stated Saturday that the Saxon Motor company of Detroit was negotiating for a location and that Ypsilanti had practically secured the plum. Mr. Eckley stated Monday that the project was practically assured but that it had to be ratified by the directors of the motor company, who were to meet this week.

The company will employ about 200 men and expect to make 10 cars daily. They have leased the new building of the Apex Motor company here. The latter will continue to manufacture taxicabs in their present quarters.

Monday evening Secretary Eckley of the Board of Commerce was present at the council meeting and asked the council not to assess the Saxon Motor company for personal taxes for a period of three years. His request was granted.

Several other cities have been after this company and Ypsilanti is fortunate in securing them, as it will mean more employment for labor and that is one of the things that every city needs. Here is hoping that it is a "real honest to goodness proposition" and that the Saxon car will claim Ypsilanti as its future home.

ROBERT GARDNER WILL STAND TRIAL

Robert Gardner, aged 23 years, was arraigned Tuesday evening before Justice Stadtmiller on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Miss Thelma Hancock, 15-year-old girl who ran away from her adopted parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gardner, two weeks ago. Both Gardner and Miss Hancock were apprehended at Flint and were brought back to Ann Arbor by Deputy Sheriff Dick Elliott. Gardner pleaded not guilty and his bail was fixed at $500. He was not able to furnish it and was committed to jail to await trial on March 28. A petition charging Miss Hancock with being a delinquent child was to have been signed before Probate Judge Leland.

TO BUILD FINE NEW BUSINESS BLOCK

Joseph Fortunato announces the erection of a modern two-story brick building to occupy the site of his present confectionery store on Washington street. Work will commence in a few days of tearing down the old building. When the new building is completed Mr. Fortunato will have one of the finest confectionery stores in this part of the state.

Indications point that Ypsilanti will have an active building campaign the coming year. There are good prospects of several new residences being erected and several business blocks are to be remodeled. The slogan, "Come to Ypsilanti and Live," is a good one, and just as soon as new houses are built people are going to come. No empty houses in Ypsilanti.

NEW STATE PARK FOR WAMPLERS LAKE SOON

Wampler's Lake, in Lenawee county, will soon have an added attraction in the way of a state park. The state administrative board, on recommendation of the state conservation commission, authorized the building of this park Tuesday. There will be approximately 90 acres in the park, equipped with bath houses and other park equipment. An authorized expenditure has been allowed by the state of $9,000 for the purchase of the land and $6,000 for equipment. The state highway department has been instructed to build the roads to the park.

This has been a popular resort for Ypsilanti's young people for several years past.

FORD HITS CHALMERS.

Sunday afternoon on East Michigan at Grove street a Ford coupe, occupied by four people of Carleton, ran into a Chalmers coupe en route to Detroit. The Ford was turned completely around and turned over on its side. Fortunately those in the car were not injured. Both cars were badly smashed.

FINE DISPLAY OF SOUTHERN FRUIT.

"Some lemon." Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thomas, who are spending the winter in Florida, recently sent a box of lemons and grapefruit to H. H. Hutchins. The lemon weighed a pound and 14 ounces and measured 15 inches around. Mr. Hutchins had this fruit on display at his store on Washington street. The grapefruit was also extra large.

NEW CHARTER NOW THE ISSUE

YPSILANTI VOTERS WILL HAVE A CHANCE IN THE FINAL SAY APRIL 3.

On another page in this issue of The Record will be found an advertisement setting forth 15 essential features of Ypsilanti's new charter to be voted on at the coming election. Be sure and read this advertisement so that you will be familiar with the new charter and its workings if adopted at the election.

From now until election this paper will carry articles explaining the charter and it is up to every citizen of this city to study them and familiarize themselves with the commission form of government and be ready on election day to cast an intelligent vote.

Meetings are being held in different parts of the city and speakers will be on hand to explain the new charter. There will be four meetings held this week. Thursday evening at 7:30 meetings will be held at Normal high school, the colored school in the first ward and in the Central high school lunchroom. Friday evening a meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at the Prospect school. Tuesday evening of next week a meeting will be held at the Woodruff school. Other meetings to be held during the week will be announced in the city schools.

FOUR CANDIDATES OUT FOR THE SHERIFF JOB

So far four candidates have thrown their hats into the ring for the office of sheriff of Washtenaw county. They are John Connors, chief of police of this city; George Gillespie and James Robinson, of Ann Arbor, and George Cook, of Saline. The last three are now deputy sheriffs.

Deputy Sheriff Dick Elliott, who has made one of Washtenaw's best officers, has been urged by his many friends to enter the race, but has declined.

John Connors has made a fine record as chief of police of this city and has a host of friends who will be glad to see him nominated for this office, and if nominated is sure of a large support over the county.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME OF ROBERT WRIGHT

Late yesterday afternoon the fire department was called to the residence of Robert Wright, on Chidister street. When the department arrived the fire had gained considerable headway and the roof and sides of the building were badly damaged before it was got under control.

The fire, it is thought, caught from an overheated chimney. Mr. Wright is an employee at Ford's and Mrs. Wright was away at the time of the fire. Most of the household goods were carried out by the neighbors.

RADIO AT RECREATION.

The Recreation company is installing a new radio system and soon you will be able to hear all that is going on in the way of high class musicals, etc., from all over the land. Berx Campbell says he is going to try and get the lakes around about in the sound waves so he can hear some of the big fish flop, and hopes by the time the fishing season opens up he will have all the big ones located.

MAYOR MAKES ARREST.

John Monaghan pleaded guilty Wednesday before Justice Stadtmiller to being drunk. He was brought to the jail by Mayor T. E. Schaible, who found him and Priest Tabor on the streets. Chief Connors released Tabor Wednesday morning, as he stated while he had been drinking, he could not swear that he was drunk. Monaghan told the court he got a quart of liquor from an unknown Detroit man. He paid a fine of $5.

BAD STRETCH OF ROAD.

The bad piece of road lying between Upper Cross street and the good roads has been closed to traffic on account of the bad condition it is in. This outlet to Ypsilanti is always bad at its best. Last year some work was done on it by the city, but as it looks today it was wasted money and effort.

Thursday noon the drive for the new hotel had reached the $166,400 mark, with $33,400 yet to be secured by tomorrow noon. Workers are confident that this amount will all be in when the campaign closes. The old spirit of "Ypsilanti can and will" is still at fever height and there is no question but that Ypsilanti will have a new, modern hotel, one that every citizen will have reasons to be proud of.

At the noon luncheon Thursday ex-Governor Ferris was present and gave a short talk to the workers. Mr. Ferris was here as a speaker at the Normal college.

JURY BRINGS IN VERDICT GUILTY

OUT OVER 70 HOURS STANICH'S SECOND TRIAL IN WHITTAKER ROBBERY.

After a deadlock of over 70 hours the jury in the Stanich case brought in a verdict of guilty at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The case was given to the jury at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Stanich was arrested on the charge of robbery while armed. On the first trial the jury failed to bring in a verdict. The crime for which Stanich was arrested was that of the robbery of the Whittaker jewelry store on Oct. 3 of last year. His arrest followed shortly at his home in Ecorse, where Deputy Sheriff Dick Elliott and John Connors traced the auto which was used in the robbery. The defense in this trial attempted to show that Stanich did not leave Detroit on the day that the robbery was committed. They did not deny the use of the car, but claimed that Stanich loaned the car to the Leblanc brothers; that the Sunday morning in question he attended church with his family.

Stanich was tried in the circuit court in December of last year and the jury was out 20 hours and split on the verdict, six to six. At the time of Stanich's arrest in Detroit a man by the name of Charles Lynbenich, a Detroit jeweler, was also arrested and was a witness against Stanich.

COAL STRIKE NOT LIKELY TO BE FELT HERE

The coal strike, called for March 31, is not likely to affect the coal situation here in Ypsilanti. Dealers say that they will be able to furnish soft coal. While most of them are not overstocked with hard coal, they will, if weather conditions prove favorable, be able to supply their customers. The strike will in all probability make it hard for those who lay in their supply of winter coal early and they may have to wait to do this until next fall. One dealer was of the opinion that when the strike was settled, hard coal would be selling cheaper. In all events there is no need of worrying over the situation in Ypsilanti.

JAMES TRIES THE FURNITURE GAME

James Sumner, recently released from Jackson prison on probation, decided last week that he was tired of keeping house, or rather that he was tired of seeing his mother's and sister's furniture around. James called up August Harnack and sold out the place—furniture, phonograph, records, and all, for $20.

He was located in Detroit and is now in the county jail. Unless he denies stealing the articles he will be returned to Jackson to serve out the rest of his time for stealing an automobile belonging to Ray Fletcher. Harnack is out the furniture and the $20.

AUTO LICENSES INCREASING.

WOOL PRICES ADVANCING.

The 1922 wool pool is opening much higher than last season. During the past few months the wool prices have been gradually strengthening and at the present time delaine wool is worth around 45 cents or better, with the price very firm at that figure. These seems to be a keen demand for wool this season among the buyers and reports have been received from the west that wool has been contracted on the sheep's back at very attractive prices.

It is likely that wool will again be assembled in Washtenaw county this year. A tentative schedule of assembling dates has been arranged for the first week in May. It is possible that buyers' prices may advance by that date. Last season Washtenaw county farmers pooled about 140,000 pounds of wool. Fifty per cent of the price of the wool was advanced at the time it was assembled. According to Farm Bureau officials, final returns will be made during April.

The management for the 1922 pool has been changed and will be in charge of Don Williams. Wool will be assembled and graded similar to last season and an advance of 40 per cent made at the date of grading. This season it will not be stored in the local warehouses but shipped directly to a central warehouse after it has been graded. Government reports show that there is a shortage of the better grades of wool, and although the market is not exceptionally strong for woolen goods, the demand is firm, so that good prices ought to be received this season, and many wool growers anticipate a substantial advance in price from what is now being offered by local wool buyers.

Owing to the storm Saturday night only a small crowd gathered for the sugar party at Kenneth Conklin's. Those present enjoyed the evening very much, as they had a dance.

About 30 gathered at the James Burrell home at Cherry Hill Saturday evening to remind Mrs. Burrell that it was her birthday. The evening was made very enjoyable with music and dainty refreshments were served.

Joe, Ervin and Peter Michels, of Detroit, were Saturday callers at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Michels.

There was no school Thursday and Friday in the Free Church district as the teacher, Mrs. Saida Dixon, accompanied her sister, Gertrude Walker, to the Homeopathic hospital, Ann Arbor. Miss Walker is suffering with blood poison in one of her fingers. Five incisions have been made in her hand and drainage tubes inserted, in an effort to avoid amputation of the finger.
Under the circumstances she is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Henry Priebe received word from Detroit Friday that her father, Charles Desentz, had passed away about 2 o'clock that day. Mr.

Desentz, who was 90 years old Jan.
8, was born in Germany, married there and came to this country and settled in Detroit when about 45 years old. Of the 10 children born to them five are still living. There are also several grandchildren. His wife died about 32 years ago. For the past year he had been confined to his bed and had often prayed that he might die. Mr. and Mrs.
Priebe went to Detroit Sunday evening to attend the funeral, which was held Monday.

Floyd Markham, who has been ill for some time and was thought to be on the gain, had a relapse last week and has had to be under the doctor's care again. It is hoped that now he will get along all right.
Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Strang and Eugene Strang and family left last week for Oklahoma.

Mr. Dean is living in the Elijah Strang house and looking after things there for them during their absence.

Mrs. Arlie Hickman and sister,
Miss Irene Wilbur, were in Detroit
Saturday to visit their brother, George Wilbur, who has been suffering with blood poison in one of his thumbs. While at work in the shop he got a sliver in his thumb, blood poison developed and the end of the injured member had to be amputated just back of the nail. The doctor thinks he is going to get along all right now.

Last Friday afternoon about 5 o'clock when Dr. Wright made the usual visit to see Charles Sweitzer, Jr., who had been ill for a week, after making an examination asked for a council of doctors. Dr. Barrs, the surgeon from Beyer hospital, was called. After consulting for some time it was found necessary to have an operation for appendicitis.

Arrangements were hastily made for his entrance to Beyer hospital, where before 12 o'clock that night
he underwent a successful operation.
Although still very weak, as the appendix had burst, his friends feel confident that he will soon be among them again.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nollar and John Boyer and Mr. and Mrs.
Louis J. Kuhl and daughter, Beryl, attended a dancing party at Saline last Thursday night and report a very enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Wm. Priebe, of Detroit, spent from Friday morning until Sunday afternoon with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Priebe.

Mrs. Fred Nollar entertained a large party of relatives from Salem and Northville on Sunday in honor of her birthday, which occurred March 14. Although the day was very stormy all had a jolly time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan entertained a company of friends from Detroit on Sunday.

Mrs. Neva Shock, and little daughter, Betsy, were Wednesday callers at L. J. Kuhl's.

Mr. D. Martin, Wm. Priebe and wife, George, Arthur and Margaret Priebe, of Detroit, were Sunday dinner guests at Henry Priebe's.

Mrs. Margaret Mosher and little niece, Aletha Whitney, were Thursday afternoon callers at Mrs. Grace Morgan's.

Miss Anna Parks, of Birmingham, spent from Friday night until Sunday night with her brother, Ed.
Parks, and son.

Sunday the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Van Buren, of Ypsilanti, gathered for a surprise for Mrs. Van Buren, her birthday occurring on Monday, the 20th.
She was taken completely by surprise and until the bountiful birthday cake, bearing 65 candles, was resented to her she could not realize just what all the "fuss" was over. Her great-grandson, Carl Raymond, will be one year old March 24 and he also received a lovely little cake with one candle on it. Several pictures were taken of the cake, two of them when all the candles were alight. There were eaten at the table Mr. and Mrs.
Van Buren, Mr. and Mrs. Louis J.
Kuhl, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman A.
Walters, of Tuttle Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Raymond, Miss Beryl Kuhl, Carl Kuhl, Lois and Lillian Walters, Carl Raymond and Jacob Howling, an old friend of the family. All enjoyed the day very much and hope that Mrs. Van Buren may live to enjoy many more.

Harry Morgan and family attended the birthday surprise for their sister-in-law, Mrs. James Burrell, at Cherry Hill Saturday night.
Mr. Cobb, milk inspector for the Michigan Milk Producers' association, of Detroit, visited the station at Cherry Hill one day last week.
It is rumored that the greater share of the large tract of timber on the Isaac Le Furge estate has been sold to some large lumber dealer, who will put in a saw mill in the near future.

We are very glad to welcome back into our midst the Fred Zimmerman family, who have moved onto the Earl Christner farm from the Joseph Harris farm at Stony Creek.
We are still enjoying (?) some real March weather. The roads are almost impassable.

Herbert Shock is working at the foundry in Ypsilanti.

John Boyer has again secured a housekeeper, a Miss Hunt, from near Salem.

Henry Priebe came near losing the sight of his right eye last Tuesday. When building fence a rail flew back and struck him directly in the eye, causing a painful injury, although no serious results have followed.

George Palmer had his cows tested for tuberculosis last week.
Mr. Palmer sells bottled milk in Ypsilanti.

Elmer and Ervin Michels are working in Detroit.

Henry Priebe and family and Mrs. Wm. Priebe, of Detroit, were Saturday evening callers at Luis J.
Kuhl's.

Harley Shock was in Ypsilanti
Sunday to see his sister, Mrs. Floyd Parr.

Frank Kraft is again at work as carpenter work in Wayne.

Miss Vera MacFarlane spent the week-end at home, and with Miss Camilla Strang and Miss Laura Kraft attended the party at Kenneth Conklin's.

Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Trowbridge, of Dearborn, are still with their son,
Russell, and family.

Mrs. Wm. Rooke entertained her brother, George Robinson, of Dix-boro, Sunday.

Mrs. Elwin Pooler is visiting relatives in Detroit.

Shirley Adams left Saturday to visit his family and brother, George,
at Battle Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harrison, of Inkster, visited the latter's mother,
Mrs. Pankovic, and sister, Mrs. K.
A. Trowbridge, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Pooler and daughter, Miss
June, were Saturday callers at R.
A. Trowbridge's.

Russell Trowbridge and John Kraft helped George McKim to buzz wood Friday.

An Investment Not an Expense

One of the best known real estate men in America recently said:

"Any modern, efficient steam or hot water heating plant will add three to five times its cost to the selling value of the house."

THINK OF IT!

Steam or Hot Water Radiators in your house mean not only a more comfortable and healthy home, but a big increase in the selling value of your property as well!

Now is the time to prepare for the change to steam or hot water warmth. Let us go over your house for an estimate.

How Firestone Has Reduced the Cost of Tire Service

Size	Jan. 1921 Prices	Jan. 1922 Prices	Reduction
30 x 3 Fabric	$18.75	$ 9.85	47%
30 x 3 1/2 "	22.50	11.65	48%
30 x 3 1/2 Cord	35.75	17.50	51%
32 x 4 "	56.55	32.40	43%
33 x 4 1/2 "	67.00	42.85	36%
33 x 5 "	81.50	52.15	36%

HOW the cost of building quality tires has been brought down to the lowest level in history was explained by H. S. Firestone, President of the Company, to the stockholders at the annual meeting on December 15, 1921.

1. All inventories and commitments at or below the market.
2. Increased manufacturing efficiency and volume production reduced factory overhead 58%.
3. Selling costs reduced 38%.

Mr. Firestone stated, "This reduction in prices is made possible by our unusually advantageous buying facilities, and the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of our 100% stockholding organization.

"Due credit must be given to Firestone dealers who are selling Firestone tires on a smaller margin of profit. This brings every Firestone saving direct to the car-owner."

The saving through first cost plus the saving through high mileage doubles
Firestone economy and is daily adding new fame to the Firestone principle of service—

THE GIRL, A HORSE AND A DOG.

The property—not directly by themselves, of course, but by an agent who would figure as a disinterested third party—would be easy. Beasley said that there had been some talk of an underground drainage tunnel, such as Daddy and I had figured upon—this at the time of the springing of the floor trap—and that the cost had been estimated at half a million. Unquestionably the robbers had assumed that an old man who had already charged his venture up to profit and loss would venture up for a song rather than to venture again; and in this they were probably well within the truth.

But at the moment when they were ready to complete the circle of imposture, death—the death of Grandfather Jasper—had stepped in to complicate matters. Somebody—possibly Cousin Percy—had corresponded with whoever was representing the robber syndicate, and by this means the ploters had learned that they would now have to reckon with an heir. How Bullerton came to be employed by them almost at the instant of his return from South America we did not know; but we could easily understand that with the new complication which had risen by reason of Grandfather Jasper's death, it was highly necessary for some emissary of the syndicate to get on the ground quickly, prepared to forestall by purchase, guile, or, in the last resort by force, any attempt of the Dudley heirs to pry into things they were not to be permitted to know.

The pushing of the fight for possession to the final and property-destroying extremity was another matter that Beasley was able to explain.

"Ye see, it was a case of fish 'r cut-bait, and do it quick," the marshal explained.

I Was Looking at Jeanie When I Replied.

plained. "If he could run you folks out, pronto, and get possession after anybody come along to ask a lot of p'inted questions, he stood about one chance in a dozen to lie out of it some way. If you-all got killed in the scoldings, he'd scatter his mien in the woods and try to make me b'lieve that you'd got done up trying to run him off."

"Would you have believed him?" I asked, grinning across the table at Beasley.

"It'd a-been a question of vee-racity, as the court says; with maybe you and Hi Twombly too dead to testify."

At this, Daddy, who had been eating like a man half-starved, put in his word.

"I reckon you can't get at them galoots higher up, Stannie, but if you don't shove Charley Bullerton just about as far as the law'll allow, I'm goin' to call ye a quitter."

At that moment Jeanie had just brought in another heaping plate of the luscious corn cakes, and I was looking at her when I replied.

"We'll see about the shoving a bit later, Daddy. The first thing to do is to put the old Cinnabar in shape to shell us out some money. I'm broke, you know."

When I made this admission, Beasley, the last man in the world from whom help could come, I should have said, looked me squarely in the eyes.

"Stannie Broughton—if that's your name—you ain't so dad-blamed crazy as you look and act," he remarked. "Money's what talks. Are you afein' to swing onto this thing with your own hands—for keeps, I mean; not to sell it out to the first set o' minn' sharp that comes along?"

"Sure!"—you said it; I'm going to keep it and work it—after I get out of the jail where you're going to land me for pinching that inspection car and getting it smashed. Why else did I start out blindfolded to hunt for a girl, a horse and a dog?"

"He let the latter half of my reply go without comment; charging it up to some last lingering remains of the craziness, perhaps."

"Well, let's see about where you'd crack your whip first," he invited.

"That part of it is easy," I laughed. "What I don't know about the practical end of the mining job would land a wagon. I'll pitch out and hunt me up a real, for-sure miner, of course."

"Nothin' so awfully crazy about that," he granted. Then: "What's the matter with Hi Twombly, here, for your boss miner?"

"Not a thing in the wide world—except that he can't be because he is going to be my partner in the deal."

"Now you're talkin' a whole heap like a white man," said the desperadoish one. "Dog-goned if I don't b'lieve you are white! What do you say to givin' me a whack at the bossin' job?"

"Now You're Talking Like a White Man."

I took just one little glance at Daddy, and the mild blue eyes said "yes."

"But you've got me under arrest, Mr. Beasley," I pointed out, just to see what he'd say. "You can't very well close a business deal with your prisoner, can you?"

"Kill two 'r three birds with the one rock," he mumbled, cramming the striped half of his breakfast-finisher corn cake into his capacious mouth. "I'll chase you down to Angels and turn you over to the majesty o' the law—the same bein' by name old Squire Dubbin. Then I'll jump my job o' sortin' out the bad angels from amongst the good angels and go out and rustle your bail. Time old Bill Dubbin's chewin' over the law in such cases made and perverted—like he's bound to do—I'll scrape up a bunch o' men and start 'em up hereabouts to begin on the repairs. How does all that strike you?"

If my laugh was a bit grim there was a warrant for it.

"It strikes me fair in the empty pocket, my good friend," I told him. "Just at this present moment I couldn't finance one solitary, lonesome carpenter—to say nothing of a gang of them, with half a dozen steam-fitters and boiler-makers thrown in."

"Huh! workin' capital, you mean? That's about the easiest thing this side o' Hades—with a mine like the old Cinnabar—with no more water in it than what can be pumped out—to back you. I reckon your title to the property's all right, ain't it?"

"It is; I have a deed from my grand father." So much I said, but I didn't go on to explain how the quick wit of a girl who now hated me had saved that deed from being a mere scrap of waste paper. Not that I knew how she had done it—but the tangible fact was safely in my pocket.

Fifteen minutes after this breakfast table talk I was bidding a temporary good-by to the wreck on the Cinnabar ledge, and was about to take the road to Atropia with Beasley; both of us intent upon catching a way freight to Angels. Daddy had lent me the piebald pony for the ride to the railroad station—this either with or without Jeanie's consent; I didn't know and forbore to ask—and the harlequin-faced dog was ready to trot at the pony's heels. But the blue-eyed maiden had shut herself up in her room, and I thought she wasn't going to come out and see me off.

At the final moment, however, after Beasley had already steered his nag across the dump head, and I was about to climb into my saddle, she came to the cabin door, and was both curiously embarrassed and a bit breathless.

"Please!—one minute!" she begged; and as I took my foot out of the stirrup: "Do you know what they have done with—"

"With Bullerton?" I helped out. "No, I don't know; but I suppose they've taken him on to the county seat at Copah with the others."

"Then—"

"Then—"

"Then—"

"Then—"

"Then—"

you refuse to prosecute—"

"Make yourself entirely easy," I broke in, a bit sourly, maybe. "I'll agree not to play the part of the dog in the manger."

"Thank you—so much!" she murmured; and then she backed away quickly and went in and on through to the kitchen, leaving me to follow Beasley, which I did, with the sour humor telling me that of all the puzzling, unaccountable things in a world of enigmas, a woman's vagaries were the least understandable. For, after all was said and done, and after all that had happened and been made to happen, it seemed to be palpably apparent that Jeanie Twombly was still in love with the feast.

CHAPTER XIX.

Angels, Desert and Urban.

Our stop-over in Angels, Friend Beasley's and mine, was of the shortest. Our business with Father William Dubbin was the merest travesty upon a trial at law, and was speedily concluded.

Since there would be no passenger train until afternoon, Beasley and I resumed our places in the freight's caboose, and in due time were set down in Brewster, the breezy little metropolis of Timanyoni Park.

Here my captor—and friend—appeared to be very much at home. He took me to the best hotel, where he was greeted with affectionate camaraderie by a clerk who wore a diamond big enough to serve for a locomotive headlight, shook hands with, and introduced me to a number of gentlemen in the lobby, and presently gave me orders to go up to our rooms and "take a wash," preparatory to meeting a certain friend of his at luncheon; the meeting contingent upon his being able to "round up" the friend in time for the feast.

It still wanted a half-hour of the appointed luncheon time when I descended to the lobby. A little before one o'clock Beasley came in with a middle-aged man who looked as if he might have been the retired manager of a Wild West show; not long-haired, or anything like that, but with the cool eye and bronzed, weather-beaten face of one who lived under house roofs only when circumstances forced him to. A moment later I was shaking hands with Mr. William Starbuck, mine owner, ranchman, a director in the Brewster National bank, president of the Brewster Commercial club and the prime mover in a lot of other civic activities too numerous to mention.

I may pass lightly over the events of the three days following; days in which Mr. William Starbuck, who seemed to be known to all the old-timers in Brewster as "Billey," and to the younger generation as "Uncle Billy," labored untiringly in my behalf; procured me the necessary working credit at the Brewster National, helped me in the telegraphic ordering of new machinery, helped Beasley to rustle up a small army of mechanics to go ahead of us to the Cinnabar, and, last, but not least, made my peace with the railroad company in the matter of the stolen and smashed inspection car; this being a thing which he was easily able to do because he was the brother-in-law, once removed, of the railroad company's vice president and general manager.

On our last day in Brewster, and as a parting favor, I asked Starbuck how I should proceed in regard to quashing the indictment against Bullerton, and when I did so, he gave me a shrewd look out of the cool gray eyes, with a gentle uplifting of the shaggy brows. "If you are determined to let Bullerton go, all you have to do is to do nothing. If you don't appear in Copah to prosecute him and his would-be mine jumpers, the case against them will be dismissed, as a matter of course. But really, you know, you ought to make an example of them."

"In the circumstances, I can't," I returned, so we let it go at that; and an hour later Beasley and I were on our way back to Atropia and Cinnabar mountain.

CHAPTER XX.

Cousin Percy Wires.

It was on the evening of the fourth day's absence that Beasley and I left the train at Atropia and took the mountain trail in reverse for a return to the high bench on Old Cinnabar, Beasley riding a borrowed horse, and I the calico pony, which Daddy Hiram had sent down to the station by one of the newly imported workmen.

Just as we were leaving the railroad station Buddy Fuller, the operator, ran out to hand me a telegram. Since it was too dark to see to read it, and I supposed, naturally, that it was nothing more important than a bid from some machinery firm anxious to supply our needs, I thought it might wait, stuck it into my pocket—and promptly forgot it.

Our talk, as we rode together up the now familiar trail, was chiefly of business; the business of reopening the mine; and it was not until we were nearing our destination that the ex-marshall said:

"Still stickin' in your craw that you ain't a-goin' to pop the whip at Charley Bullerton?"

"It is," I answered.

"Well, now, why not?"

"Principally because I have promised somebody that I wouldn't prosecute."

"Not Hi Twombly; he'd never ast you to do anything like that."

"No; not Daddy Hiram."

He didn't press the matter any further, and we rode on in silence. As we approached the neighborhood of the mine, evidences of the forthputting activities began to manifest themselves.

MUST PAY THE SPECIFIC TAX

TAX COMMISSION CONDUCT- ING CAMPAIGN OVER THE STATE.

Announcement is made from the office of the tax commission at Lansing that the campaign being conducted by that department to cause the payment of the specific tax on land contracts is bearing much fruit and that the efforts to uncover this class of property are being so increased that when the campaign is closed it is expected there will be practically no land contracts in the state upon which the tax has not been paid.

It seems that prior to 1911 mortgage and land contracts were subject to taxation at the same rate as real estate, merchandise and other tangible property, but the legislature of that year was persuaded by the owners of such credits that the state would derive a much greater revenue if a small specific or recording tax of one cent per dollar was levied. Therefore a law, act No. 91 of the Public Acts of 1911, was passed which provided that a tax of $5 per thousand should be paid by every mortgage and land contract at the time it was offered for record and that thereafter such credits should be exempt from further taxation.

The law, however, has not fulfilled the promise. Not only has the revenue been less than under the general tax law, but there has been no greater willingness to pay the tax. Because it is necessary to record every mortgage promptly in order to protect a title to real estate, the tax on mortgages has been paid almost without exception, but with land contracts the result has been far different. It is very seldom a land contract has been recorded and consequently no tax has been paid and owners of this class of credit have evaded the tax even more successfully than under the old law. Until 1921 the law did not clearly provide that contracts could be assessed under the general tax law unless the specific tax was paid, but as amended by act No. 213 there is now a question but that it is the duty of the assessing officer to assess every contract which has not paid the specific tax.

The tax commission at the present time is using almost its entire force in investigating this class of property and before the close of the campaign every portion of the state will have been visited. The commission will not only have its own examiners engaged in this work, but will also call upon all the assessing officers in the state, more than a hundred, and every owner of a land contract is advised to pay the specific tax at once, or he will be subject to the provisions of the general tax law which provides for an annual tax the rate of which ranges from two per cent to six per cent, depending upon the locality in which the owner resides.

The attorney general of the state has assured the commission that the law is constitutional and enforceable and with this assurance the commission has proceeded to enforce the tax law, by which it can compel the disclosure of information from many sources, there is small chance that many contracts will escape taxation. Until the meeting of the board of review of the township or city, owners of contracts have the privilege of paying the specific tax and being exempt from the general tax, but any contracts found after that date will be put on the rolls for special review, provision for which is made in the tax law.

No effort will be made to require the recording of the contract. All that the commission intends to enforce is the payment of the tax to the county treasurer in the county in which the property is located and the recording of the contract will then be optional with the owner.

The tax is a small one and therefore not burdensome and it is a matter of fairness to the owners of this campaign. It is only by enforcing the tax laws that the burden on the owners of real estate can be lessened. Even though the specific tax is small, the amount of tax received will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars, and as it is divided equally between the state and the county, it will result in a measure of relief to every property owner. The owner of a mortgage has had to pay the tax, and in fairness to him the owner of land contracts must do the same.

There is an idea held by some that the purchaser of the property is required to pay the tax. This is not true. This law presumes that the tax will be paid by the holder of the contract, the party who sold the property.

It must also be understood that no allowance can be made for a prior contract or mortgage on the same property. The tax must be paid on each contract regardless of any other encumbrance on the property.

Reports from all over the state are to the effect that owners of contracts are availing themselves of the privilege accorded them by this law and those who do not do so will be certain to regret their attempt to evade this extremely small tax.

TALES OF ANCIENT VOYAGERS

Make as Pleasant Reading Today as They Did When They Were First Written.

Many of the tales of voyagers that were collected by Richard Hakluyt in the time of Shakespeare are fully as pleasant to read now as "Robinson Crusoe" or "Gulliver's Travels," and they have the advantage of being shorter. Take, for instance, "The First Voyage of Master John Davis, Undertaken in June 1585, for the Discovery of the North-West Passage," written by John James Marchant, servant of the Worshipful Master William Anderson. Here we read of the discovery of a land "the first sight whereof did show as if it had been in form of a sugar loaf, standing to our sight above the clouds, for that it did show over the fog like a white lisle in the sky."

Loading the barque in good order, the captain and his company went on shore on a small island, where they found people who showed them a "thing made like a timbrel," which they "did beat upon with a stick, making a noise like a small drum." Then John James Marchant goes on to tell of the canoes which these people had, the rocks of the land "very fair, like marble, full of veins of divers colors," of their sleds, of their fire backed by stones laid like a wall, of their fruit like currants, and of the pools of snow-water beside cliffs "of such ore as Master Forbisher brought from Men Incognita." A pleasant land it was to discover, and a pleasant land it is to discover today with the help of some parts of Hakluyt's tales.

IF THAT NAIL HAD BUT HELD!

Good Story Explains Why His Satanic Majesty Can Not Endure Sight of Horseshoe.

Tradition has not designated the manner of hanging the horseshoe; it has no such influence in this respect as the crescent moon is supposed to have upon rainfall, by pouring out or retarding luck. The superstition is of the vintage of mortality plays in Merrie England, and is a part of the folklore of the farm in feudal times; the horseshoe frightens the devil away.

The story runs that the devil, driven out of the fertile country into the rocky hills by the good people, found one hoof worn to the quick by the sharp stones. Limping in pain to a village smithy, he terrorizes the smith at night into fitting him with an iron shoe. The canny smith in friendly chat finds his customer much the same as the general run of the peasantry. Emboldened by the roaring of his forge fire and the ring of his hammer on the anvil, he drives all the nails but one in the usual manner, clinching them in the hoof; then, asking his confiding client to put his hoof on the floor that he may judge the fit, with a mighty blow he drives the last nail right through the shoe deep into the oaken floor.

Leaving the raging devil a prisoner, he goes to summon the villagers to dispatch him. This strategy did not succeed, for the terror-stricken devil in his struggles wrenched off the shoe and with bleeding hoof in great pain escaped to continue his evil practices. But to this day whenever he sees a horseshoe hung up he flees the place in shame and fright.

First Stage in Star's Birth.

The vast black mass, 20,000,000 times larger than the sun, demonstrated to exist in the heavens by the Dutch scientist, Dr. Pannekoek, seems to upset all earlier astronomical calculations. It is, comparatively speaking, so near us that Dr. Pannekoek suggests that the sun itself must move around it once in 2,000,000 years—drawing the earth with it. "We believe that the black body must consist of dust, and that this is the first stage in the birth of a star," said an expert. "As it condenses it gets hotter until it becomes luminous and visible. Sudden 'flares' or 'new stars' have been seen in our lifetime, but the black cloud of dust appears to be the real beginning. The amazing feature is the nearness of the body. It is relatively as close to the earth as a foot rule would appear to be if only two feet away from your eyes. It is quite possible that even vaster bodies of this kind exist." The nearness is relative. The body is 250,000,000,000,000 miles away.

The Law and the King.

We remember that, even in the days of almost universal assent to the divine authority of kings, Justice Coke could boldly challenge and check the autocratic Charles with the judgment that the law was superior to the will of the sovereign. Christian teachings and evolution of two thousand years, and the slow and laborious development of the principles of justice and judgment by proof, demand this crowning triumph of ages of sacrifice and struggle. The closing of the nineteenth, the most beneficent and progressive of centuries, would be made glorious by giving to the twentieth this rich lesson and guide for the growth of its humanities and the preservation and perpetuity of civilization and liberty.—Chauncey Depew.

Value Increased.

She (pouting)—You don't value my kisses as you used to.

He—Value them? Why, before we were married I used to expect a dozen in payment for a box of candy, and now I consider only one of them sufficient payment for a new dress.—Boston Transcript.

Obituary

Mrs. Amon Shaw.

Mrs. Amon Shaw, who has resided in the vicinity of Ypsilanti all her life, passed away at her home, 18 East Cross street, Monday morning, aged 66 years. The deceased was ill but a short time and her death came as quite a shock to her many friends. She is survived by her husband and one son, Clarence. The funeral was held from the Christian Volunteer hall Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Tenny.

About 6 o'clock Tuesday morning Juliette, wife of Charles Tenny, died at her home on Fifth avenue, Ann Arbor, aged 47 years. Mrs. Tenny had been in poor health for more than a year. Last fall she had a serious attack of illness and never fully recovered. Besides the husband there are four children one daughter, Henrietta, and three sons, Albert, Olin and Fred, all living at home; a twin sister, Mrs. L. F. Hilmer, of Detroit, and another sister, Mrs. B. Page, of this city, and two brothers, Frank Jackson, of Detroit, and Wm. Jackson, of Kalamazoo. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from the late residence, with interment at Forest Hill cemetery, Ann Arbor.

WORK AWAY YOUR TROUBLES

Man at His Best, and Happiest, When Physically and Mentally Busy, Says Writer.

You can't overwork. God Almighty intended this wonderful mechanism called the human body to work. It is working all the time. Did you ever think of that? Think of it once more! This heart of yours pumps on 72 times a minute, from the moment that it takes its first beat, until it dies, at fifty-six years, or sixty years, or one hundred. It pumps 4,320 times an hour, 103,680 times a day.

Everything in us is constructed to work. Everything in us is constructed to carry big loads, big burdens.

This human hand—it's a masterpiece of mechanics. This spinal column—it's constructed to hold your body up, and teams of horses pulling in opposite directions could scarcely pull it apart.

God intended us to work. He made it necessary for us to work. Whether you know it or not, your day's work lights up the glad side of your ledger. And idleness is loss.

The happiest moments in the life of a man are those in which he is at his best, intellectually and physically, working at high speed with the greatest necessity for good judgment and quick action. Then, if he has troubles, he forgets them in the exhilaration of the hour. Whether he knows it or not, his actual, every-day employment is his biggest boon to happiness.—Charles E. Lawyer, in Forbes Magazine.

ACTION OF WATER ON FIRE

Just What Takes Place When the Liquid Is Employed for Quenching Flames.

Practically, water thrown on a fire drowns out the blaze. Scientifically, however, the water absorbs so much of the heat in the fire that the temperature of the fire is lowered so that the oxygen will not combine with the carbon in the burning material and the fire goes out.

It is peculiar that water, which is made of oxygen and hydrogen, will put out a fire which requires hydrogen and oxygen before it will burn. This is true, however, as the oxygen and hydrogen composing the water already have been burned or heated to a high temperature when they combined as water, and so, as no substance or gas that has been burned once can be burned again, the combination of the two gases in the form of water will not burn when thrown on the fire.

To the contrary, the heat of the burning fire is lowered by the water so that the oxygen of the air cannot combine with it and, lacking the oxygen, the fire is extinguished.—Philadelphia Ledger.

"By Hook or by Crook."

"By hook or by crook," an expression denoting that a person is determined to accomplish a certain thing, no matter how, was first used in Ireland in 1172. At that time, Strongbow, the great warrior, invaded Ireland and swore he would take it "by hook or crook," meaning two towns of great importance in those days near the port of Waterford.

Some authorities, however, claim that Strongbow was using a punning allusion. Ancient forest rights in England and Ireland allowed the poor to carry away dead or damaged wood for fuel. The people were not permitted to use an ax or a saw but were supposed to pick up the loose branches scattered about. The customary method of removal was to use hooked poles or "crooks" with which the dead branches could be pulled down and hauled home.

In the old English records this privilege of the poor is called "a right with hook and crook to lop, crop and carry away fuel."

"Running the Gauntlet."

The custom of punishing a culprit by forcing him to "run the gauntlet" practiced in the Seventeenth century, is said to have originated during the "Thirty Years' war" (1618-48) and to have been adopted by European armies as a mode of punishment. The culprit was stripped to the waist and then obliged to run repeatedly between two lines of soldiers facing one another, each of whom struck at him with a short stick or switch. The word "gauntlet," as here used, has not the meaning usually given it—that of an iron glove—but is simply a corruption of gantlopp or gatlopp, and is derived from the Swedish gatlopp, meaning "running down a lane." Some etymologists, however, derive the word from the German gassenlaufen, which means "running the lane," and others from the Dutch gangloopen, having the same meaning.

What Produces Freckles.

Old Sol is the real freckle dispenser. His rays, on their way to earth, fall alike on the just and the unjust and so the just and the unjust have freckles; that is, those who have skins built for freckles—generally persons of fair complexion and hair. Some people never have freckles because their skin is not the same as that of the freckled ones.

The action of the sun on the skin of persons of light complexion causes a yellowish or brownish substance to exude from the second layer of skin and forms freckles. Some people even have permanent freckles, but in most people the freckles disappear when the summer is ended, and they are bundled up in warm clothing while out of doors.—Philadelphia Ledger.

NATIVE STOCK IS SLOWLY DYING AWAY

Is the native American stock dying out? Sanitarians of the state department of health who are making studies of births among persons of native and foreign parentage find that during 1921 children of the foreign stock in Michigan increased five per cent faster than among native Americans.

Of the 95,932 children born in the state in 1921 more than two-thirds, or 63,618, were born of native American parents. The remainder or 32,314 children, had either a foreign father or mother, or foreign parentage on both sides.

Taking the number of native and foreign women in Michigan between the ages of 15 and 44—the child-bearing age—it was possible to secure accurate comparisons showing the number of children born to every 1,000 women in each of the two groups. This would illustrate the relative fecundity of native and foreign stocks.

On an intercensal estimate it was found that in 1921 there were 371, 300 native born women between the ages of 15 and 44, and 172,360 foreign born women of the same ages. To every group of 1,000 women of native American stock 178 children were born during 1921, while for every 1,000 foreign born women there were 183 children born, giving the foreign born stock a birth rate of five per cent higher than that of the native Americans.

Detroit reported 27,013 births in 1921. Of this number 14,050 children were born of foreign parentage and 13,963 of native American parentage.

SIG CAST WITH ANITA STEWART.

The principals in the cast supporting Anita Stewart in her latest, "Playthings of Destiny," a First National attraction, which will be shown at the Martha Washington theatre, beginning Sunday, are: Herbert Rawlinson, Walter McGrail, Wm. V. Mong, Grace Morse and little Richard Headrick, known in the film real as "the wonder child." "Playthings of Destiny" is Miss Stewart's initial Associated First National attraction on her 1920-21 production schedule. It was directed by Edwin Carewe. The story by Jane Murnin was adapted to screen form by Anthony Paul Kelly. Wallace Fox assisted Mr. Carewe, and Robert Kurrie was in charge of photography and lighting effects.

The Right Sequence.

"A topical quotation in a contemporary runs: 'Tell me my faults and mend your own.' Before starting any other mending, neighbor, suppose we first mend the motto so as to get the proper sequence. Isn't this better: 'Mend your own faults and then tell me mine.'—Boston Transcript.

Weighing Without Scales.

The resourcefulness of the Irish is shown in their method of weighing without scales. "To weigh a pig," said an Irishman the other day, "all ye have to do is to lay a plank across a sawhorse, place a big stone on one end of the plank and the pig on the other, then shift the plank until the two things balance. Then ye guess the weight of the stone and ye have the weight of the pig."—Boston Transcript.

FAMOUS DETECTIVE NOVEL TO BE SEEN AT WUERTH THEATRE.

On Tuesday and Wednesday "The Way Women Love" will be seen at the Wuerth theatre. This is a film version of the celebrated mystery story, "Behind Green Portiers," which was written by Herman London and appeared in the Detective Stories Magazine recently.

It was especially selected as a starring vehicle for the celebrated screen beauty, Rubye De Remer, by a jury of motion picture producers, who after examining hundreds of stories declared this to be the "best vehicle they had ever found."

"The Way Women Love" was produced for the Arrow Film corporation by Lyric Productions and was directed by Marcelle Perez. An excellent supporting cast makes this one of the strongest attractions seen in some time. Walter Miller has the leading male role, while such well known performers as Walter, D. Green, Rose Mintz, Thomas Magrane, Henry Pemberton, Edward Elkas and W. Harry Young give a capable portrayal of the parts assigned them.

SCREEN STAR'S NAME AID POPULARITY.

There is one very interesting reason why Tom Mix, the Wm. Fox star, will always be popular with certain classes of persons—such as exhibitors who show his pictures, artists who make the advertisements and display signs for his productions and electricians who arrange the electric signs in front of theatres. And that reason is not his sterling ability as an actor, nor his daredevil, hard-riding character parts. It is his unusually short name.

With his whole name consisting of but six letters, exhibitors are never put to it to find space on their electric signs; artists find it easy and quick to letter, as well as welcome the little space it demands; and the electricians who make up the theatre signs find it easy to spell and never exhaust their supply of letters before they have half spelled out the name, as in the case with many well-known stars.

Mix, who may be short on name but is long on ability to crowd action and thrills into an hour of motion picture entertainment, comes to the Wuerth theatre as the feature attraction on Thursday and Friday in his latest and most unusual production, differing from anything he has ever done before—"The Rough Diamond."

THE ECONOMY OF LIVING IN YPSILANTI

It has long been said of Ypsilanti that considering its advantages, it is an economical city in which to live. Judged by the price of staple foods it seems to be sustaining its reputation. For example: CLASS A MILK, such as is produced by HATCH HERD, retails in Detroit for 25c a quart. We are paying in the west for milk at least no better 25c per quart in quart bottles, and 30c in pint bottles.

In Ypsilanti our CLASS A MILK is delivered direct for 12 CENTS A QUART, or 6 CENTS A PINT—a saving in living expenses on the one indispensable three-times-a-day, perfect food, containing all the Vitamines, of MORE THAN 50 PER CENT over Detroit and western prices.

Ypsilanti's New Charter

TO THE ELECTORS OF YPSILANTI:

The proposed Charter for the City of Ypsilanti, as prepared by the Charter Commission elected in April, 1921, will be submitted for your approval at the city election on Monday, April 3rd.

Copies of the Charter are now being distributed to every residence in the city.

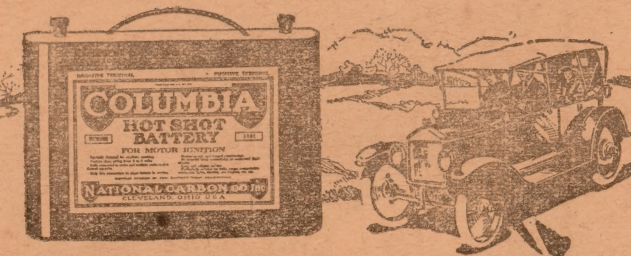

The essential features of the Charter are as follows:

1. The Commission-Manager form of government is substituted for the Mayor-Council plan now in operation.
2. The City Commission is to consist of five Commissioners, chosen for three years, and who are to serve without pay. This Commission is to have general oversight of the affairs of the city.
3. A Mayor is to be chosen by a majority vote of the Commission from among its own members, and is to hold office for one year. The Mayor is to be president of the City Commission and the official representative of the city.
4. A City Manager is to be chosen by the City Commission, solely on the basis of ability and without respect to his politics, and can be removed from office only after a public hearing. The Manager is to be directly responsible for the efficient management of the city's affairs.
5. All elective officers are to be nominated by petition, thus doing away with the expense of primary elections.
6. All ward boundaries are to be abolished. The elective officers are to be chosen at large by the people of the whole city, thus doing away with ward politics.

C. O. HOYT,
GUY DAVIS,
EMMA GARDNER,
ALEX. NULAN,
DeFOREST ROSS,

7. In the election of officers opportunity is given for both first and second choice. This practically assures that those entrusted with the affairs of the city shall be the choice of a majority of all the voters of the city.
8. Provision is made for increasing the number of supervisors from two to four, thus giving the city a greater voice in county affairs.
9. The City Commission is given full power to regulate all matters pertaining to public health, safety and welfare. This fixes responsibility and makes speedy action possible.
10. Nine voting precincts are provided to comply with the present State law.
11. The initiative and referendum are provided for under regulations that assure their efficiency and that make their misuse difficult.
12. Provision is made for giving publicity to all ordinances (excepting emergency measures) before they become effective and allowing opportunity for protest.
13. All franchises are to be referred to the people before they become binding.
14. Checks and counter checks make the misuse of city funds practically impossible.
15. Equal political rights, both as regards voting and office holding, are accorded to men and women alike.

E. R. BEAL,
FRED BENNETT,
M. SINKULE,
H. Z. WILBER, Charter Commission.

A pretty girl should look her best in the morning—awakened with flower-like freshness of complexion, welcoming the revelations of searching sunshine.

Such charm is not necessarily a gift of nature, but the result of knowing what your skin needs—of giving it the intelligent daily care which makes it bloom with health.

The secret is a thorough cleansing every day to remove all dirt, surplus cold cream, rouge and powder. This can only be done with soap.

The soap must be mild, balmy and soothing in its action. Palmolive is such a soap. It is the scientific blend of Palm and Olive oils, the cosmetic cleansers of Cleopatra.

FAIR NOTES.

Work begins this week on grading the track on the new grounds. The large tile are all in and laterals which drain the track are being placed rapidly. The track will doubtless be finished before June 1.

Work is being rushed on this year's premium book and program, which we hope to have in the hands of the farmers in May.

The lists for the vegetable department have been thoroughly revised and those expecting to show in that department should secure the new list before planting. Special encouragement is given for growing the best market varieties, while a number that are obsolete are eliminated.

One hundred life memberships have been sold. If 500 are sold it will be possible to erect enough buildings to house the exhibits this year.

Arrangements are under way for a county-wide better babies contest, with attractive premiums.
